

INTERFERENCES

WHDA understands that interference issues can be confusing for clients, because this is a highly complex area of U.S. patent law. WHDA maintains a strong interference group anchored by specialists with deep expertise in interference issues, as well as a broad legal and technical background.

Although the America Invents Act (AIA) eliminated interferences, legacy cases will exist for years to come. Therefore, our clients may need our interference expertise long past the implementation date of the AIA.

For every assignment, our team keeps our clients apprised of all available options. Our experienced interference attorneys work to ensure strong protection in every aspect of this critical practice, and work diligently to identify the strongest approach and aggressively pursue the strategies most likely to ensure success.

Related Professionals

- › Scott M. Daniels
- › John P. Kong